

Compass:

A free, non-medical support program for people with serious illness

Compass points those who need help with a serious illness in the right direction to home-based support services.

- Compass is free.
- Compass is a non-medical program.
- The goal of Compass is to improve quality of life for clients with serious illnesses and their families.
- Compass helps arrange community and social support, guidance and resources.
- A Compass coordinator will meet with those who need help to determine their goals and help fulfill them.
- Compass is not the same as hospice care, but is a program of Coastal Hospice.
